As all of Bethel College gathered on the steps of the Administration Building, one thing became clear. One thing brings all of Bethel together when nothing else can. One thing makes Bethel a unique school and a unique experience. One thing was bringing all of these people to the center of the campus.

On the top steps of the Ad Building, two men are sharing a set of headphones, listening to a tape. A group of five are singing, badly, the lyrics to Billy Joel's Piano Man.

Four members of the International Club talk about how things went at the convocation they had hosted that morning.

A professor jokingly wrestles with a student who insists he has a test to take in two minutes.

So all of these things, and more, are happening as the photographer aims the camera through the foggy air. All this diversity in six hundred people is going to be caught on film.

What brings it together? Big ideals, big thoughts, big plans, big changes and big voices. We are a collection of people who definitely don't think the same. But we all think big.

Depressions in the ground, made soft from the rainfall during the Fall Festival activities, showed where many of the booths had been, even though only the memories were still around. Fall Festival 1990 included a myriad of events on September 27-30.

Booths that lined the sidewalk included the art club, Peace Institute, English department, Service Corps, Student Senate, as well as many others.

Faces were being painted by Circle K, the Industrial Arts department was selling its handiwork, and the German Club was selling its very famous bratwursts.

Activities on the Green and all around the campus ranged from a steam engine threshing machine demonstration, folk dancing with Annette Thornton, and the Fall Fest drama Dirk's Exodus, written by James Juhnke, Bethel College history professor.

Thousands of people came to Fall Fest this year, bringing with them the diversity BC has become known for. Of course, they left with more than they came with.

The annual Christmas banquet was held in Memorial Hall on Novembe 30. Students, staff and faculty members turned out to have "A Gala Christmas" with fine dining and musical performances. The Concer Choir, the Women's Ensemble and Sinfonia performed for the crowd in Mem Hall. The evening was wrapped up with the Winter Frolic dance in the Mantz Library lounge.

Jeff Moore holds his candle as part of the wreath of light at the Lighting of the Green. The program was broadcast on the campus radio station, KBCU.

The second annual Lighting of the Green attracted hundreds of worshippers to the Green to celebrate Christ's birth. Patty Shelly, professor of Bible and Religion, led the ceremony. Participants formed a human "Wreath of Life" around the Green and sang carols while illuminating the campus.

Mother Earth showed us what she could do on the day designed to honor her. Earth Day 1991 was rained out. Or in, rather, as all of Bethel's Earth Day celebraters moved indoors to watch a day's worth of singers and bands. Music ranged from Laura Cossey, performing some original works and some familiar ones, to the Dyck Band's rock to the Mod 4C Refrigerator Band, who banged on appliances for ten minutes to the delight of all.

Though the turnout was less than expected due to the rain, many stayed the entire day, doing homework and remaining socially conscious the main prerequisites for being a student.

The Environmental Action Club will continue the yearly celebration.

As they do every year, the Bethel College faculty took to the stage to entertain the student body. John Mc Cabe-Juhnke and Bryan Reber emceed the show dressed as the two singers of the pop group Milli Vanilli, who admitted this year that they actually sang none of the songs on their Grammy Award-winning album. Fittingly, the entire Follies program consisted of professors lip-synching their favorite hits.

The evening came to a close with the premiere of Thane Chastain's tribute to Harold Schultz, Risqué Business, starring Carolyn Schultz, Barbara Warkentine, and Harold Schultz lip-synching to Old Time Rock and Roll and dancing around in his underwear. Now that's entertainment.

An overflow crowd at convocation forces some spectators into the aisles.

Every Monday and Friday, a whole lot of Bethel crossed campus to the Fine Arts Center to go to convocation. While convo isn't universally regarded as the most exciting thing to do while on campus, many of the convocations through the year became hot topics of conversations for weeks, and many were as controversial as things here get.

Fortunately, convocation never became a place for disinterested students to finish up a bit of homework or to dose off in one of the back rows.

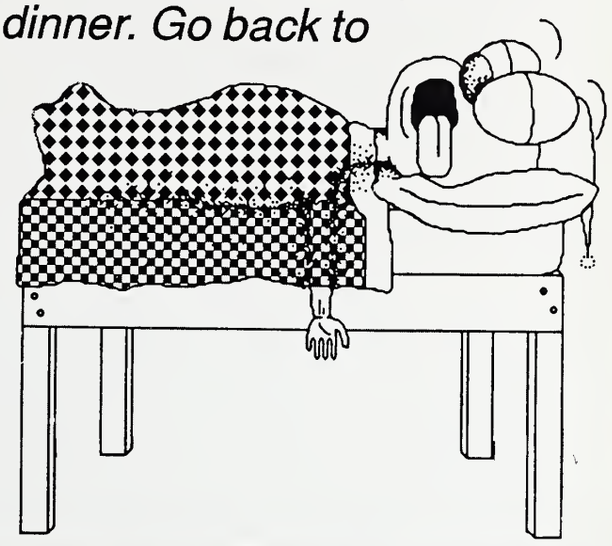
A typical day in the life of a Bethel Student: Get up in the morning. (This can vary from a 5:30 awakening to a twelve-in-the-middle-of-the-day-get-up-so-I-can-make-it-to-lunch-before-the-line-closes awakening.) Go to breakfast. (Unless you got up too late.) Go to class. Go back to your room to study. Go to lunch. (See above.) Go to dinner. Go back to your room and do something there.



One of the biggest aspects of attending Bethel College (for most students) was living here. According to campus standards, all full-time students, unless they are married or over 23 years old, must live on campus. So we studied, slept, wasted time, socialized and did many other things all year long in our dorm rooms in one of the three residence halls--Haury Hall for women, Goering Hall for men, and the co-ed Warkentine Court.

Also part of the package is Marriot, Bethel's food service. Since cooking is not allowed in the dorms, most students headed to the cafeteria in the Schultz Student Center three times a day. Unless they didn't get up for breakfast.

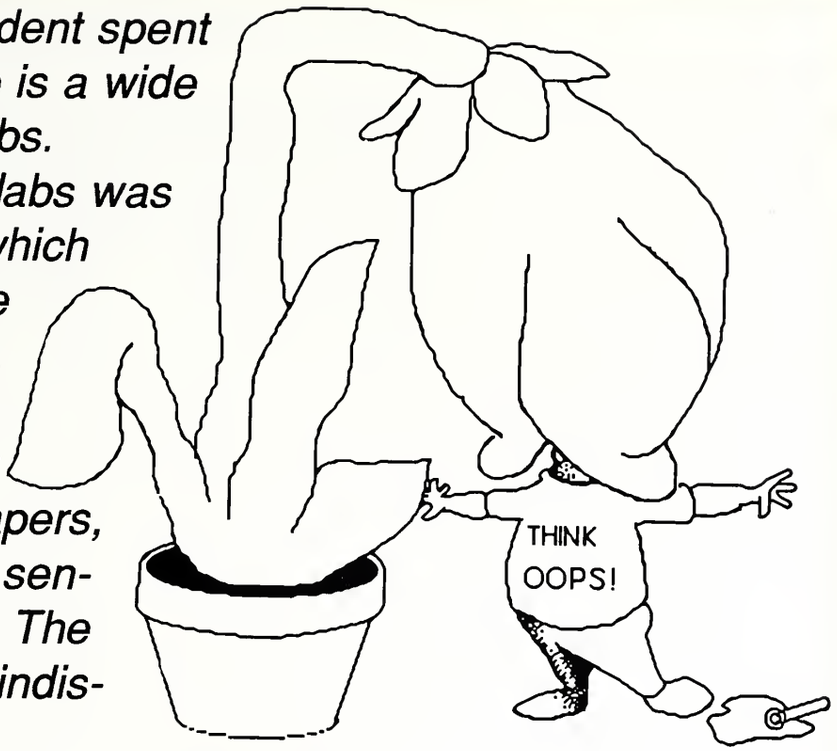
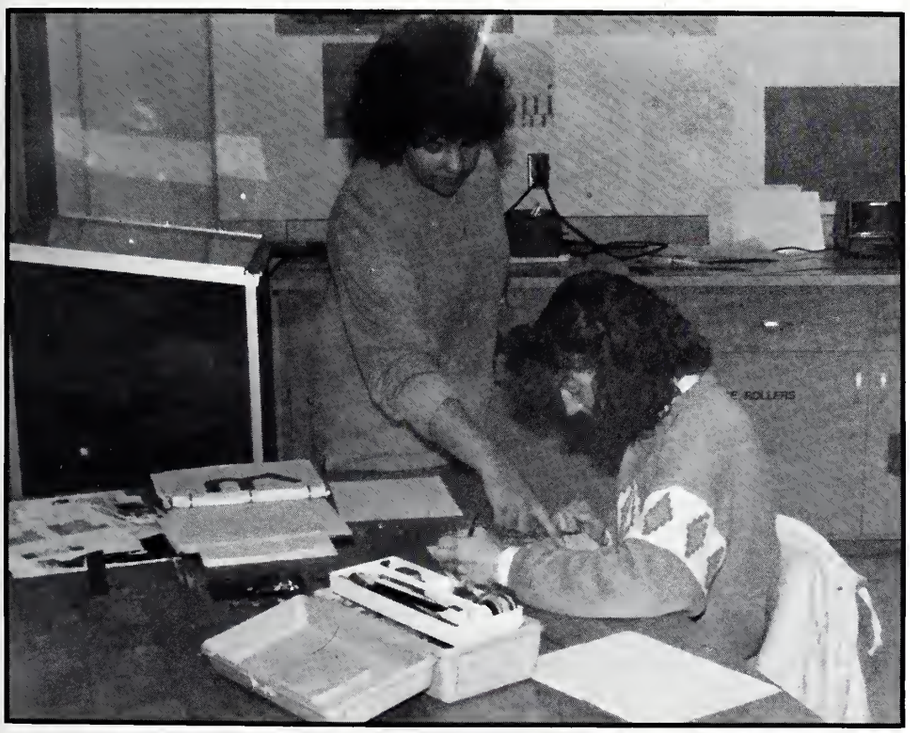
david Kliewer gets his just reward for participating in Workday at the ice cream social for workers.

They're everywhere. Every student spent long hours in them, and there is a wide variety of them on campus: labs.

The best-known of all the labs was probably the computer lab, which equently turned into something like homestead for certain students. he lab in the basement of the Sci- nce Hall (also called "the Hole," or Hell,") was used for all kind of papers, nging from Computer Literature ,to sen- r seminar papers, to letters home. The mputer lab, unfortunately, was an indis- ensable part of Bethel life.



Science labs were also hotbeds of frustration when your Petri dish didn't roduce, or whatever. Other labs on campus included the Radio/Television Lab here all the Bethel videos were produced, the Desktop Publishing Lab, where e Collegian and the Thresher were printed, the home economics lab, the drama lab, the ceramics lab and the art labs.



In a meeting of the art majors, Beky Weidner gives Kari Deckert some artful advice on a Graphic Design project in the art lab.

tudied all day? Sick of Plato, Shakespeare and Staphylococci? Looking for entertainment, but no car available? Well, you don't have to leave campus to find a good time.

You can go to the ever-popular Bubbert's snackbar, which serves cheese sticks (and other snacks) until 1 in the morning every day. If you don't want to just sit around and eat, you can go to the gameroom next door to play ping pong, foosball, pool or video games.

If you're looking for a different kind of entertainment, you could go to one of the various music performances on campus. Several theater performances are also staged each semester in the Fine Arts Center.

If you still aren't satisfied, you have a choice selection of movies, sponsored almost-weekly by the Student Activities Board, as well as dances, board games in your dorm, etc., etc.

If none alleviate the boredom, you may as well turn to page 79.

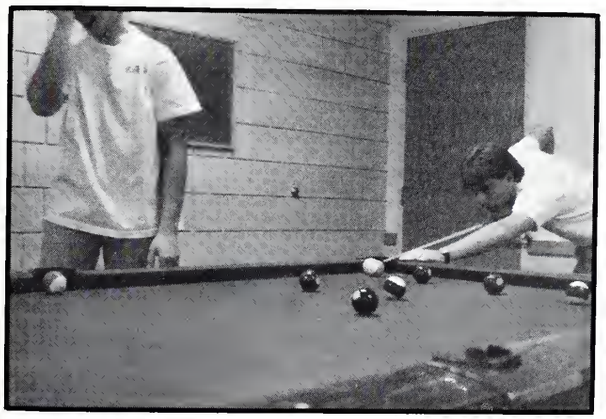
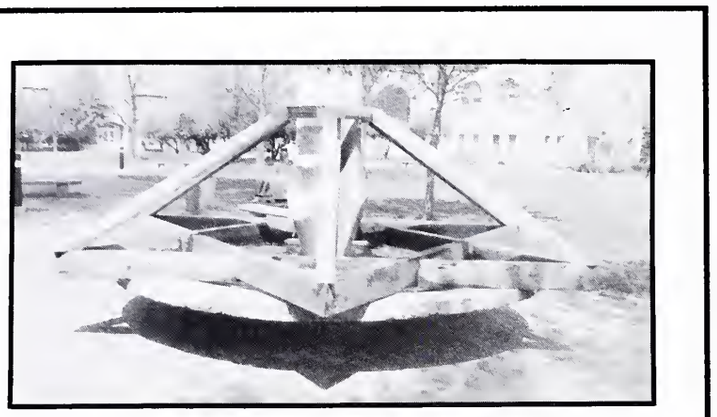
Ben Chappell and his magnificent drums.

Tom Graber can't believe Ryan Brenneman's luck at pool in Bubbert's gameroom.





Early Monday morning, still dar outside. Tennis shoes leave foo prints in the dewy grass of th green as a pack of students cros the Green on their mission.

You can fill in the rest. Either th pack goes to a parking lot to gra Byron Rupp's car to decorate the cafe teria.

Or they could have been on the way to the fountain carrying a larg wooden Star of David from Mine Seymour's senior art project. Or the could be on their way to put abou twenty tires from Miner Seymour senior art project in the trees and c the Ad Building.

Or they could have been carrying family of cement deer to place them c the Green, grazing in the center campus.

They could have been going to th Chapel. Having decided that sea there were simply a nuisance, the grou moved them to all the corners of the campus.

There were more pranks. Many were disassembled before Bethel woke up by the Maintenence Department.

And there were always a lot of people looking very innocent.

Everyone knows that life in North Newton isn't exactly bright lights, big city. But one can certainly find things to do in and around Newton when life on campus has become kind of a drag.

Travels off campus often took students to Wichita, a convenient thirty minutes away. In addition to numerous cultural events such as the symphony and several museums, Wichita also gave Bethel students The Palace, home of $1.25 movies.

Even for those who didn't want to travel quite so far out of Newton, entertainment around town was findable, if it was looked for hard enough. Druber's Donuts, for example, has been a hangout for students for years.

Apart from that, the most inexpensive and socially rewarding form of off-campus entertainment was probably private parties and the like.

And, of course, there was always Thursday night....

Work study is very important for students on a tight budget. Many students have on-campus jobs: some people work three hours a week, some work thirty. Whatever the case, work study is a good learning and working experience, providing insight into certain areas of work.

At Bethel, students can work in any of many workplaces: the library, the cafeteria, student services, the granary, the maintenance department, and many others.

Not only is working on campus a good way to make money (tax-free!) it can be more fun than you might think.

Kauffman Museum features exhibits related to the immigration of Mennonites in the 1870s and their settlement in the central plains. A prairie reconstruction, displaying living native grasses, lies outside the main entrance for visitors interested in the outdoors.

From September 1990 to March 1991, Kauffman Museum hosted one of its most popular exhibits, The Mirror of the Martyrs. The exhibit, organized in part by former Bethel history professor Dr. Robert Kreider and Bethel art professor Bob Regier, depicts 2000 years of Christian martyrdom. The exhibit is based on the Martyr's Mirror, a 1290-page book from 1685, and includes the original copper plates used by Jan Luyken, the illustrator of the volume. The Mirror exhibit will tour from Bethel to museums around the United States, Canada, and overseas.

Even though chapel is scheduled in the middle of the week, students, faculty, staff, and members of the Newton area are not too busy to attend and make this 45-minute worship a popular event on campus. Praying, singing and sharing reflections help students who are unable to attend their home churches.

Small Bible-study groups are also aspects of religious life. Second semester saw the formation of the S.S.S. Club. Weekly, the group would meet for a Sunday Soulful Singspiration.

The campus ministers and the Religious Life Team sponsored a fall retreat in November and a Religious Life retreat in March.

March 10 to 15, Les Tolbert, co-pastor-in-residence and spoke and answered to students.

For those interested in becoming ministers, a Minister Inquiry Program was set up for the academic year and the summer.

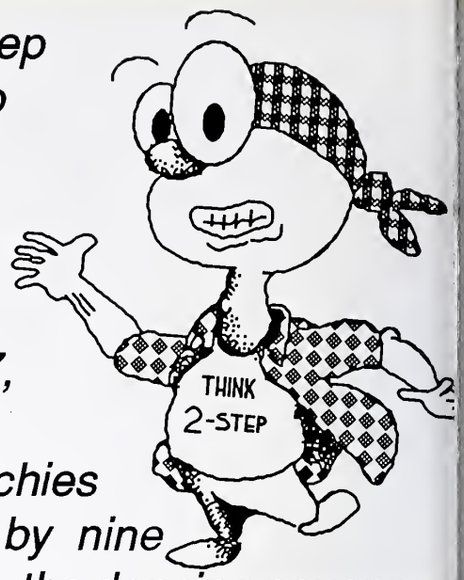
Boogie till you puke. Ah-one, ah-two, ah-three, step left. Moonwalk? Do the Humpty Hump? (No, no one will remember the Humpty Hump in twenty years, but it was fun while it lasted.)



Dancing is an important part of Bethel's on-going struggle for quality on-campus entertainment. Ever since dancing was de-illegalized at BC in 1967, we've been getting down.

Most of the dances were held in Bubbert's. The techies would start the setup around mid-afternoon and by nine o'clock the dancers would start to trickle in. Of course, the dancing never really got serious until about ten: then the hair was let down, the shoes kicked off, the hips gyrated, etc. Other dances took more work. The Halloween dance in Memorial Hall Auditorium brought out the ghouls the goblins, Dave Mi-ciejewsky dressed as a woman, Ben Chappell dressed as the cousin of an Elvis impersonator and Mod 2B dressed as M&Ms (they melt in your mouth, not in your hands).

Winter Frolic in the lounge of the library was held after the Christmas banquet. Spring Fling was held outside during a brief respite from the Kansas spring rains.

So you see, se-son to season, all across this great big campus of ours, everybody's getting down. And doing the Humpty Hump.

GERMAN CLUB

If students walked into Seminar B on Tuesday evening during the dinner hour, they would have found themselves immersed in German conversations.

"Stammtisch", the weekly gathering of students around the dinner table, gave students the opportunity to use their German language skills outside the classroom, as well as the opportunities to get aquainted with students from Germany to discuss campus or international activities, and to perhaps win the prize of the evening.

Other German Club activities included the "Bratwurst Booth" at Fall Fest, a German meal with a box of Christmas treats from Germany, presenting small stipends to Bethel students studying in Germany, and assisting the Bethel/Wuppertal exchange with supplies.

A unique activity for the club was the trip to Yoder, Kansas where the group experienced Pennsylvania Dutch hospitality and cooking, as well as horse and buggy rides at an Amish home. This was also an opportunity for the German students to compare the Pennsylvania Dutch dialect with the standard High German.

The final activity of the year was again the annual barbecue for all students enrolled in German classes or involved in club activities.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

Amnesty International Chapter 323 worked on behalf of a Sri Lankan student who was reportedly abducted by Army personnel as well as for conscientious objectors in Western Europe. Beth Hege organized a postcard campaign during Fall Fest aimed at discovering the whereabouts of the "disappeared" Sri Lankan student. Angela Lehman engineered another postcard campaign on behalf of those imprisioned in the wake of Tiannamen Square crackdown in Peking, China. In March, AI held its fourth annual Write-a-thon; the enent helped raise money for the local chapter's national dues and generated over 100 letters concerning five individual cases of human rights abuses. Student officers included Robby Dyck, Teri Tatro, Sonia Weaver, and Alain Epp Weaver. Other AI leaders were Beth Hege, Marion Deckert, Patty Shelly, Ned Lakin, and Raylene Hinz-Penner.

CLIO

Clio is Bethel's history club, named for the muse of history. Clio strives to heighten historical awareness on the campus. This goal was met in several ways during the 1990-91 school year.

The first activity Clio organized was its annual Fall Festival booth. The college alumni and current students were greeted by a matching historical quiz. Pictures of prominant historical happenings of the past twenty years were to be matched with corresponding dates. Garry Entz, a fellow historian of years past, claimed first prize with an awesome display of historical knowledge. As victor, Garry won the book, A Bright Shining Lie written by Neil Sheehan.

Buest speakers were also welcomed to the campus. Clio was proud to present Loren Pennington, history professor from Emporia State, who presented a convocation on Dwight D. Eisenhower. Dr. Albert Kaim was also welcomed to the campus by Clio. Dr. Kaim is a professor of history at Eastern Mennonite College, and he presented several convocations on the Civilian Public Service prior to and during World War II.

In an attempt to educate the Bethel Campus through all mediumsof communication, Clio expanded to use of the movie. Movies such as The Mission and Apocalypse now were viewed on VHS. Clio also provided a van which took people to see Dances with Wolves in Wichita.

To broaden understanding of the history near Bethel, Clio ventured to Coronado Heights. This historical site marks a site visited by Coronado in the 15th century in his search for the seven cities of gold.

The year concluded with an afternoon snack at the home of professor James C. Juhnke. It was concluded that the year had been both educational and fun.

BUSINESS INSIGHT CLUB

The objective of the Business Insight club is ot provide student with information from the real business world to heighten their future success. This is done through club sponsored field trips, guest speakers and similiar activities. These activities give members the opportunity to enhance, reinforce and expand their business knwoledge. This year's highlights include a meal with the Wichita Chapter if Internal Auditors and a money raising Fall Festival booth.

CIRCLE K INTERNATIONAL
Mike Franz, Sharon Stucky, Jody Lavy, Janine Preheim, Michelle Crapuchettes, Deanne Flickinger, and Harold Moyer.

Circle K International is a service-oriented club that is very active on the Bethel campus and in the community. CKI accomplished and helped with many worthwhile projects. Included are: Special Olympics, Youthville, Adopt-a-Grandparent, Children's Miracle Network and helping with recycling.

The Vision of Circle K International

Circle K is the organization that holds the promise of today's college student becoming tomorrow's leader. It exists to meet the personal need of the individual collegian through the qualities of leadership, the rewards of service and the unique spirit of friendship. Circle K's potential lies in its ability to positively influence those in our society who are facing ultimate personal decisions and those who will one day create the vision of mankind for generations to come. Circle K is the embodiment of those qualities necessary to shape the future realized in the colleges and universities of today. The vision of Circle K International is dedicated to the realizations of mankind's potential!

SAB

Student Activities Board is the organization that plans activities for students. SAB has an outstanding and extremely active year, providing over one hundred activities for Bethel students. A slice of a list includes Fall Festival's Anything Goes on the Green, Mod parties, the Halloween dance, movies, discount tickets to the Wichita Symphony, athletic events, post-game parties, the Phillips Brothers, the Suitcase Dance, fun cycles... the list goes on and on.

SAB was guided by the leadership of David Maciejewski, Chairperson; Troy Fowler, Vice-chair; and Venita Smith, Secretary.

PEACE CLUB

Peace Club had a very active year trying to prevent and then working to stop the War in the Persian Gulf. It's first activity in the fall was to print an "Open Letter to the People of Iraq From Citizens of Kansas" in the Newton Kansan and the Bethel College Collegian.

In the fall semester, Peace Club also organized a rally at the Old Mill Restaurant where Senator Dole was speaking. The rally asked Senator Dole to reevaluate his support of the President's Gulf policy. Peace Club joined with Mennonite Central Committee in their campaign to get a "100,000 Voices Against The Persian Gulf War" by phoning representatives in Washington. Other important peace activities on campus this year included an all day Middle East Teach-In and a letter writing campaign and a walk to the Newton post office called "Walk and Mail". Peace Club also sponsored a telegram night in the computer lab so that telegrams could be sent to President Bush and Congress asking them not to start the war at the January 15 deadline.

Students also participated in many off campus activities. Peace Club went to vigils in Wichita and Topeka which were asking for a nonviolent solution to the conflict in the Middle East. After combat actually started, Bethel students joined Newton residents in a weekly vigil at the Newton Court House from 5:30 to 6:00 for a time of song, silent reflection, and prayer until the army hostilities ended. Peace Club also had nonviolence training to learn about the method of nonviolence in conflict situations.

Peace Club went to a Christian Peacemaker Teams Conference in Denver, Colorado in November. Hesston College sponsored the annual Inter-Collegian Peace Fellowship Conference in March. Bethel's Peace Club helped organize the conference and participated in it.

THE COLLEGIAN

Every other Friday, around noon, a 79-year-old Bethel tradition was continued as The Collgian found its way into the mailboxes of students, faculty, staff and administrators.

The Collegian, a campus newspaper produced exclusively by students, continued this ye to serve the college by providing campus news and sports stories, insightful features, person profiles, and a forum for the exchange of widely varying opinions. Highlights of the year includ controversial editorial cartoons, a series on Bethel's enrollment trends, campus coverage of t Kansas gubernatorial election, and columns on every imaginable topic, from the Gulf War methods of sleeping in class to peeves about the NCAA.

Despite being saddled with a quite small staff, The Collegian walked away from the annu Kansas Associated Collegiate Press competition with a Gold Medalist ranking and was runner-for top student newspaper (four-year private college division) in the state.

ENVIRONMENTAL ACTION CLUB

The Environmental Action Club (EAC) has the goal of educating for an alternative lifestyle in a world of finite resources. One important alternative is recycling waste. Last year, EAC started a recycling program on campus. This program convinced Bethel that a college-run recycling program would be successful.

In the fall, 15 members of EAC attended the Students' Environmental Action Club Conference in Illinois. The club heard speeches by Jesse Jackson, Robert Redford and Ralph Nader, participated in a march and workshops such as The Persian Gulf War and the Environment.

Camping for two nights with over 3000 other people gave the club the opportunity to brush their teeth with environmentalists from all over the country.

EAC has also been a member of the Blue Stem Co-op, which makes an effort to be an environmentally-sound food supplier. EAC members helped the Co-op remodel its new location on Main Street in November.

Earth Day was once again sponsored by EAC, as it was last year. Though the activities were forced indoors to Memorial Hall because of rain, the crowd was still very pleased by the live entertainment by campus talents, sales by several groups and a "junk" sculpture on the Green.

Other EAC activities included a convo presentation with Student Senate, a bird-watching outing, a presentation on the Alaskan Wildlife Refuge, and a Save Sand Creek Day when about 25 people helped clean the ditch between the library and Goering Hall.

SCAN

Student Community Action Network (SCAN) links student volunteers with community programs and organizations. Human resources at Bethel have been matched with the needs of various groups in the Newton. Projects done every year include biannual bloodmobiles and M-2 prison visitation at KSIR in Hutchinson. Harvest of Love is another project SCAN coordinates on campus. This year $218 was collected in a chapel service for this local food ministry. In addition, a fast for world hunger raised $507 with the participation of over 120 students.

As a new project, SCAN collaborated with a senior researcher in setting up an elderly visitation program at Presbyterian Manor in Newton. Volunteers were also solicited for a Shoplifter Education Program, child care for a domestic violence support group, and activity assistants for Prairie View.

Co-coordinators for the school year were Aaron Rittenhouse and Janelle Arnett.

ULTIMATE

On warm, sunny afternoons, one can often expect to see the Ultimate Club in action. Ultimate is a new athletic event that is becoming increasingly popular worldwide, as well as Bethel-wide. The Ultimate Club is an informal club in that its members include anyone who joins in the game, and meeting times are spontaneously scheduled according th the whims of Kansas weather.

So imagine if you can a game that could be described as a hybrid of frisbee and football. In the midst of students roaming to an from classes or just wandering about, are the barefoot boy/girl wonders running about the Green, slinging a frisbee up and down the field. People join in and poop out as the afternoon progresses, glad to have had a break.

The game takes some coordination and speed, but these are not requirements. There is no club membership. All that is required are the following: the desire to throw your books aside, the desire to play, and the desire to throw your books aside! With these rules on hand, let the games begin!

HOME ECONIMICS CLUB
Michelle Krehbiel, Karis Hirschler, Kristi Pankratz, Marge Warta, Janna Adrian, Kelly Schrag.

The Bethel College Home Economics Club provides opportunities for students to network with rofessional Home Economists, explore the professions of home economics, and gain insight on areer opportunities.

Our Bethel College chapter in included in the KHEA-SMS (Kansas Home Economics Asso-iation-Student Member Section.) We as a chapter hosted the annual KHEA-SMS Fall Workshop. arolyn Jackson, District Representative Campaign Leader Dick Nicholas, spoke to us on how her lome Economics degree has been helpful in her current occupation. We also attended the KHEA onvention in Wichita. At the convention, we attended workshop and heard encouraging words from everal speakers. Several members from our local chapter are members of the AHEA/KHEA-SMS oard.

As the Bethel Home Economics Club we enjoyed various social activities, including a hristmas party. For a fund raiser, our club made and sold Monster Cookies at Fall Festival. To ncrease our awareness of Home Economic occupations, we toured the Hawk House, a Bed-n-reakfast located in Newton.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

International Club tries to facilitate the relationship between international students and ot Bethel students. Its main purpose is to give international students a sense of community in a fore country. International Club is not only a club for foreign students; any Bethel student may becom member. Presently about 1/3 of all members are Americans.

Students desiring to make friends from other countries who are different from them and feel a string passion for diversity at Bethel join. Without going overseas students can learn a great deal m about different cultures just by participating in club activities.

During Fall Festival the club is involved in different activities on campus. In the fall semester club hosted a convocation. Occasionally it organizes small trips around Kansas for its members. Th will be meals during holidays such as Christmas and Thanksgiving and also potluck dinners with h families. The International Club also took part in several activities with the International Clubs from ot ACCK schools, such as Christmas parties and a picnic a Kidron Cottage.

MATH CLUB

MINORITY STUDENT UNION

The Bethel chapter of MENC is a mixture of all music education majors ranging from piano to voice to violin. Each member receives the Music Educators Journal and participates in the annual KMEA (Kansas Music Educators Association) convention in February. Also the members attend lectures and discussions concerning the issues surrounding the current music education society.

This year the students have been interested in hearing from Bethel alumni like Karen Sims, who are currently teaching. MENC also raised money during Fall Fest by baking note cookies and having customers test their perfect pitch. Through these activities, the members of MENC have been introduced to a few of the many facets of music education, which will hopefully give them a glimpse of their future careers.

ORGAN GUILD
Julie Gaeddert, Janelle Arnett, Karen Andres, Carol Regier, Janet Roesler, Mory Ortman, Allison Kaufman, and Shirley King.

The Bethel College student chapter of the American Guild of Organists (a national professional orgainization) was formed in 1959, and is the oldest of three student chapters in Kansas. Promoting excellence in organ music and its performance is one of the objectives of the American Guild of Organists. Activities of the Bethel Chapter include more extended trips per year to hear major recitalists, tour organ-building shops and play outstanding instruments. A weekend trip to play a recital on the Cathedral Organ Series took the students to Grace Episcopal Cathedral, Topeka, in April this year. Shirley King is the facutly advisor for the Bethel Chapter.

SSS CLUB

The Sunday Soulful Singspiration Club (SSS Club) is one of the many organizations at Bethe College which encourages spiritual growth on campus. Formally known as Informal Worship, the SSS Club was revived by students who felt it was an important aspect of personal growth with God. The SSS Club provides a time of worship with God through singing, Bible study, sharing, and prayer. The group as a whole grew through the teachings of each member. Meetings were held every Sunday night at 9:00 p.m. in the Haury Hall lounge. The informal atmosphere allowed students to share the concerns and praises they were experiencing in their everyday walk with the Lord.

Pi Kappa Delta is a national forensics fraternity dedicated to romote intercollegiate speech activities as well as to encourge students to assume leadership roles in their respective comunities. Bethel's XI Chapter, a member of the Province of the lains, was very active during the 1990-91 year.

Five students traveled to the National Pi Kappa Delta ournament and Convention held at Monmouth College in West ong Branch, New Jersey, March 20-23. The team received an xcellent rating, which placed Bethel among the top twenty olleges and universities in the United States--over 90 schools ttended the tournament. Further, each Bethel Student reeived an Excellent or Superior in informative speaking, Becky cKay received an Excellent in argument Analysis, Rob Epp reeived and Excellent in prose interpretation, Brian Pauls reeived a Superior in impromptu speaking and an Excellent in EDA debate and extemporaneous speaking, and Ken Troyer eceived and excellent in CEDA debate.

The forensics season ended at Tacoma, WA. Bethel tudents Carmen Pauls and F. Scott Thrift were honored by ompeting at the American Forensics Association National ndividual events Tournament at Pacific Lutheran College, April 2-15.

Bethel Pi Kappa Delta and orensics students--Brian auls, Leisl Robertson, Kelli ussell, Jeff Moore, Venita mith, Ken Troyer, Ben Chapell, Suzanne Mathews, Sean lacketer, Doug Woods, Kevin tucky, Arthur Marks, Carmen auls, Becky McKay, Rob Epp, nd F. Scott Thrift concluded n active and successful year ompeting in 12 tournmants; osting a college and a high chool tournament; and perorming for Bethel Convocaon, Life Enrichment, and a ultitude of community groups.

RELIGIOUS LIFE TEAM
Standing: Michelle Krehbiel, Dan Leppert, Mike Regier, Renee Sauder, Eric Buller, and Darrell Fast. Sitting: Carmen Hofer, Patrick Preheim, and Carmen Pauls.

The Religous Life Team serves God and all persons of the Bethel community through week chapel services, special programs and small Bible study groups.

The Chapel Task Force creatively planned Wednesday morning Chapel services. Throughout th year, Chapel provided students, faculty and staff with an opportunity to reflect and offer praise to Go The Chapel Task Force, along with the Program Task Force held the traditional Christman Celebratio of the Lighting of the Green for the Bethel community and surrounding church communities.

The Program Task Force planned and organized Fall and Spring retreats, sponsored Fall an Winter Service Emphasis Days, Pastor in Residence and Pre-Marriage workshops. Small Bible stud groups were also supported by the Program Task Force.

Loving the Lord your God with all your heart, mind and soul was the challenge set forth by th Religious Life Team. Thoughout the year, the team's chapel services and planned events showed all creatures, even lions and cows, the importance of loving and serving God!

Sappho is a campus organization designed to promote gender equality and discuss gender issues. Led y a steering committee of five students, Sappho hopes to educate and inform, as well as provide a setting for oncerned individuals to discuss women's lives in a positive way.

In the past school year, Sappho has led and participated in a variety of events. During the fall semester, appho led a discussion on issues affecting lesbians. A presentation and film on women and advertising also ok place. Sappho organized a booth at Fall Fest, including a quiz on great women in history, a children's time ith story and song from Free to Be You and Me, and a drawing with two prizes, a tape and a book. Sappho also owed a film on rape during the Fall semester and informally led a women's support group that met two times. his support group focused in issues such as sexual harassment, assault and intimacy.

During the spring semester, much time was spent preparing for a convocation on March 1, which ntered on the theme of "Weaving Our Lives Together." The convocation attempted to show the breadth of minism and the many issues it is connected with by using song, dance, skits, poetry, oral presentations and sculpture.

Sappho also co-sponsored a play on AIDS entitled Voices From the Front and held an International omen's Day celebration, including a panel of women from various countries around the world and international od. Sappho finished off the school year with a book fair, conducted with the Minority Student Union, to show number of books on feminist issues purchased by Sappho for the Bethel library.

Sappho proved to be controversial on campus, with many different views being presented in the Collegian d on the Wall. Nevertheless, Sappho membership and attendance at events continue to grow, with women d men taking part in activities.

SERVICE CORPS

The Service Corps entered its fourth year at Bethel. A steering committee of seven people organized a variety of service opportunities throughout the year. Kevin Hamm provided leadership for the committee, whose members represented Haury and Goering Halls as well as Warkentin Court. Projects included sorting clothes and serving a meal at Ventura House, a homeless shelter in Wichita. The Corps helped Life Enrichment members carry lunch trays in the cafeteria on a regular basis.

During January interterm, nearly 100 students, faculty and staff persons gave time and energy to complete a quilt for the Kansas MCC Sale. This year, the Service Corps started working with the Hesston College Peace and Justice Club. To promote interaction between the colleges. The first joint project was housing children who sang in the Spring Interfaith Choir.

Student Alumni Association

The Bethel College Student Alumni Association (SAA) has successfully helped to raise school pride on campus, build leadership through its members and most importantly, create a viable link between the students today and the alumni of the future.

SAA performed many fun and entertaining events during Fall Festival 1990. The half-time show at the homecoming football game, which took a look at some famous pranks at Bethel (from birds under glass in the cafeteria to a cow in the library) was a big hit. Along with the flowers for parents and the entertainment (Second Century Singers) at the Tailgate BBQ, the SAA sold a mountain of home-made ice cream at the "Taste of Newton."

SAA provided a steak dinner for those who participated in the annual Career Day, and also made important phone calls to recent graduates during the Alumni's Phonathon. D.J. Schmidt and Sponsor Virgil Penner represented the Bethel College Student Alumni Association at the National SAA Convention at Kansas University September 13-16, and came back with entertaining stories and useful ideas.

Camerata Musica is an instrumental ensemble that was started last year and originally consisted of recorder, violin, cello, and harpsichord/ piano. After Beate Mauss, the recorder player, went back to Germany last spring, a flute was added to the ensemble. The group has played mainly Baroque music, though occasionally trios from different periods have been added. Camerata played for social functions, area churches, Life Enrichment, and a Bethel board meeting. The highlight of the past year was being selected to play at the Kansas Music Educators Association Convention in Wichita.
